THE CATTLE PLAGUE IN RUSSIA. Washington, November 24 .- The Secretary State has received a letter from Minister Clay, dated St. Petersburg, October 29. As some attempts are being made to deny the existence of the cattle plague in Russia, he quotes extracts from the Russian Gazette, of Moscow, in proof of the fact. Nothing is attempted to arrest the plague. Superstitous people regard that as a sin. Some of the larger villages scarcely retain a tenth part of their original y thousands. The description of the cattle exceed that amount, ague does not answer to the one raging in England in all respects, but the climate and other surroundings greatly change the symp-toms and character of the disease, as is well known, and notwithstanding the denials of the Russian authorities, who are much interested in the exportation of cattle, tallow, hides and wool.
